LAD'S RIDE ON CAR ROOF FATAL

JACOBSON HAD MONEY, BUT WAS LOOKING FOR ADVENTURE.

Found Dead on Top of Chicago Limited Mail Car in Grand Central Station -Manufacturer's Son Was on Vacation Trip to Albany-Struck Tunnel Roof.

Arthur Jacobson, 17 years old, of 32 West 112th street, was found dead upon the roof of a mail car of the Chicago Limited on the New York Central Railroad soon after the train arrived at the Grand Central further provides that any "unreasonable station yesterday morning. The boy's head had been crushed in.

Young Jacobson was employed in the office of his father, Joseph J. Jacobson, a manufacturer of underwear at 419 Broadway. He had formerly been employed by Paul Hanks, a dentist, of 19 Lexington avenue. A letter of recommendation, written by Hanks, was the means of his identification.

The boy went on his vacation last Tuesday, and took a trip to Albany. He was plentifully supplied with money. When the Chicago Limited arrived at t'e Grand Central Station, the clerk in the mail car noticed, just as he was about to mail car noticed, just as he was about to leave, that there were blood stains upon the window. He called Conductor T. G. Snyder, who made an examination of the roof of the car. The body was found there. Young Jacobson's arm was tightly clasped about a ventilator. This undoubtedly prevented the body from rolling off long before the train reached the city.

"Some boys must have told Arthur about riding on the top of a passenger train," said Mr. Jacobson, the boy's father. "He had no need to do it. I suppose he looked upon it as a sort of adventure."

Conductor Snyder said that it was a common thing for tramps and runaway boys to creep on top of passenger trains. It is about the only hiding place in which they to creep on top of passenger trains. It is about the only hiding place in which they can elude the train crews for any length of it is supposed that young Jacobson got on the train near Albany, and, not knowing about the tunnel at Poughkeepsie, held his head up at that dangerous point. He was probably instantly killed when his head struck the roof of the tunnel.

MILLE KRUGER STILL AT MORGUE Dead Manieurist Said to Have Brother and Sister in Elizabethport.

The body of the young woman who committed suicide in Central Park, on last Friday, and which was identified on Thursday as that of Mille Kruger, a manicurist, still lay unclaimed at the Morgue yesterday. A woman about 40 years old called early in the morning and said that she knew the young woman well and would notify her brother and sister, Joseph and Mary Kruger, who, she said, lived in Elizabeth-port.

The Morgue attendants said that the caller, who refused to give her name, looked very much like Mrs. Annie Williams, who called on Thursday to identify the body. called on Thursday to identify the body, and who gave a false address, 111 West Thirty-sixth street. It was also thought that the strange caller, Mrs. Williams, and Mrs. Mary Strauss of 107 East Eighty-fourth street, with whom the dead girlived, might all be the same person. Mrs. Strauss couldn't be found yesterday.

Among the visitors at the Morgue were Mrs. Oscar Johnson of 56 East 104th street, with whom Mille Kruger lived about eighteen

Among the visitors at the Molgue were Mrs. Oscar Johnson of 56 East 104th street, with whom Mille Kruger lived about eighteen months ago. Mrs. Johnson said that the girl was not a manicurist at that time. From Mrs. Johnson's she went to the Palisade apartments, at 1350 Madison avenue, where she acted as maid for Mrs. Max Kuffer. Mrs. Kuffer said yesterday that the girl received too many male callers, so she discharged her.

As far as could be traced, the girl was nevenue and Eighty-seventh street. The manager found her too fond of the cuttomers and he also discharged her. He said that she wore an expensive diamond pin and complained before she left of its raving been stolen.

GYPSIES INVADE HOSPITAL. Went to See Their Little Ones, but Found

That It Wasn't Safe.

Garbed in brilliantly colored shawls and handkerchiefs and jabbering as if crazy, half a dozen of the gypsy women from the band now confined on Ellis Island called at the Kingston avenue hospital, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon to see their friends and babies, forty-one in number, who were taken there nearly a week ago to be the thorough preparation of boys for college. There will be a special class for those who are to enter Annapolis.

They reached the hospital and see that the babies were still alive.

They reached the hospital only to learn after half an hour's gesticulating by an interpreter that on account of the coolness of the weather they could not see the little of the weather they could not see the little ones. They were assured that they were doing well. They waited and argued in front of the office of the hospital for nearly an hour before leaving, and at last, jabbering excitedly to each other, made their departure and returned to Ellis Island.

The doctor said later: "We couldn't let them see their friends or babies because there would probably be a regular stampede. It is all we can do to keep them quiet as it is," he continued.

"Why, it takes an attendant for every blessed one of them. They are the worst bunch and the most thick headed lot we have ever had," he said.

NEW SUBPŒNA LAW BAD.

Legislature Can't Force a Witness to G Into Another State.

Supreme Court Justice Blanchard decided yesterday that Section 618A, which was added to the Penal Code at the last session of the Legislature, is unconstitutional. This section provides that when any resident of this State is required as a material witness in a criminal prosecution, for a felony, in any of the States bordering on New York which have enacted similar statutes, a Judge of a court of record "shall" issue a subpœna directing that resident to appear in the other State at the place of trial. It neglect" or refusal to obey uch a subporna shall be punishable as contempt of court.

The Attorney-General of Pennsylvania. through local counsel, asked Justice Blanchard to issue a subpœna directing H. Delinsky, a hardware dealer of 141 Bowery, to appear on Tuesday next at Allentown, Pa., as a material witness for the prosecution of Isaac Berman on a charge of forging Delinsky's name. Delinsky's counsel did not question the constitutionality of the section in his argument, though he did raise other points, such as denying that Delinsky was needed as a "material" witness.

But Justice Blanchard raised the consti-tutional point himself in his decision, and wrote, in part wrote, in part

It (the section in question) proposes to compel a citizen of this State to go into a locality over which the Legislature and the courts of this State have no jurisdiction whatsoever. It would deprive the proposed witness of his liberty without due process of law. Its effect would be to banish him from his own State. I can see no grounds upon which this statute can be sustained, and none is urged by counsel for the moving party. It appears to have been passed to facilitate the administration of justice in a bordering State, but that is not a proper field for the exercise of the power or functions of the Legislature of the State.

STUDENTS' LONG CANOE TRIP. Iwo Columbia Boys Have Covered More

Than 1,500 Miles of Waterways. Word has been received at Columbia University of the successful completion of a 1,500 mile canoe trip by two students, Adolph Eugene Gutsgell, who took his degree in the school of law last June, and Edgar Thomas Ray, a third year student in the College of Physicians and Surgeons. The students took a light canoe which either of them could carry, and started on their long journey on July 8. The first stage was up the Hudson to Albany. They then went west to Buffalo through the Erie Canal and then shipped their boat by rail to Mayville on Chautauqua Lake, a distance of twenty miles.

After a short rest at this point they took to their canoe again, crossed the lake and entered Connewauga Creek, a tributary which took them directly into the Allegheny River. The voyagers followed the river down to Pittsburg. They entered the Ohio River at Pittsburg and proceeded to Louisville. When they reached the house of the Pastime Boat Club at Louisville both men were well and they wrote that they were about to continue to the of twenty miles.

The latest advices which came from Louisville showed that the students had covered more than 1,500 miles in their canoe, buying provisions wherever they chanced to be. Both are well known at Columbia, where they have played lacrosse with the 'varsity team for several years.

Theodore was arrested. He was convicted in the Children's Court yesterday and remanded for sentence

ALIENS ON PUBLIC CONTRACTS. May Work, Says Mr. Delany, Where Their Rights Are Protected by Treaty.

Corporation Counsel Delany yesterday gave out an opinion in regard to the employment of alien laborers on public contracts, which is forbidden by the State labor law. In it he says:

The right to enter into treaties with foreign countries was one which was originally ceded to the United States Government by the several States, and any treaty, therefore, made pursuant to this grant of power has all the vigor of the Constitution itself. No even though there should be a law when a treaty is made inconsistent therewith the law must immediately yield to the treaty. Therefore, any such law as the one now under consideration cannot impose disabilities on aliens with whose Government there subsists a treaty guaranteeing its subjects equal privileges with our own citizens.

sists a treaty guaranteeing its subjects equal privileges with our own citizens.

After quoting from a decision of Justice Swayne of the United States Supreme Court on this point, Mr. Delaney adds:

From this you will observe that under certain contingencies, this labor law cannot be invoked and the municipality would not be justified in abrogating the contracts of any alien whose natural rights are protected by treaty, nor could the city on such account withhold moneys already due upon the contracts of this character.

Consider, for example, the relations bebetween the Kinadom of Italy and our Federal Government. By Article III. of the treaty the subjects of the Italian Crown in the United States are guaranteed the same rights and privileges, in respect to their person and property, as are secured to our own citizens, and so far as they are concerned, this prohibition against their employment under the labor law would be clearly ineffective.

The point was raised by a complaint forwarded from the Comptroller's office against a contractor for a Brooklyn public school, alleging he was employing alien laborers.

HARD LUCK STORY WITH DETAIL. Alleged Adventures of a Scotchman Escaping From Ulinois.

Andrew Moran, a native of Glasgow cotland, went to the Bureau of Dependent Adults, yesterday, with a tale of woe. He told Supt. Meeks that he came to America last year and went to Toluca, Ill., to visit his sister. He didn't prosper out West, and about Christmas time grew so homesick that he started on foot for New York. In Ohio, early in the spring, he said, while walking along the railroad track in a driving rainstorm, he was struck by a train and knocked forty feet, from one county into another. He was pretty well battered up, but because the accident covered two counties a dispute arose as to whether he should be cared for by the authorities where he started or where he landed. Finally the county where he landed took care of him, and he went to the Mansfield poorhouse.

While Gov. Nash and his staff were inspecting the institution, Moran decided to take French leave, and climbed aboard the special train. He rode 100 miles before he was found and put off. Finally, he reached Pittsburg, where he told his hard luck story to a group of soldiers. They staked him with enough money to reach Newark. He walked here from Newark yesterday. a driving rainstorm, he was struck by a Moran decided yesterday that it would be easier to get back to Illinois than to Scotland, so he asked Supt. Meeks to send him there. He will stay at the City Lodging House until the State charity agents have time to investigate his story.

FIGHT OVER FUEL BRICKS. Inventor Harris Wants $10,500 for Idea Which Atwater Says Is Valueless.

C. B. Harris, an inventor, summoned Silas I. Atwater, vice-president of the Zwoyer Fuel Company, Broad Exchange Building, to the Tombs police court yesterday. He told Magistrate Pool that he had invented a machine for making fuel bricks from coal dust and had placed it in the hands of Atwater, who had promised, he said, to get $14,000 from the Zwoyer com-pany for the patent. Harris was to keep the deal a secret from the officers, particularly George Crocker, the California millionaire, who is president of the concern. Harris and two of his friends were to get $3,500 each and Atwater was to keep $3,500.

Atwater, Harris said, asked for six months to test the invention. At the end of that time, Harris said, Atwater conveyed the patent to the company for $1 and refused to recognize his claim and those of his friends. Harris asked Magistrate Pool to compet the company to permit an inhis friends. Harris asked Magistrate Pool to compel the company to permit an inspection of its books so that he might learn just what was paid for his patent.

"Mr. Harris's idea is theoretically good, but commercially impracticable," was Mr. Atwater's explanation to the Court. "His patent is valueless."

Magistrate Pool said he would inquire into the dispute on Sept. 26.

Men's Scarfs 50c Worth a Lot More

Than Their Price Some of the handsomest Veckties you ever saw at Fifty Cents. They are folded squares, 21 inches wide, of ribbed silk in popular plain colors—garnet, gray, national blue, navy blue, dark green and self-figured black.
Styles that are right for Autumn wear; at a price that is just about half the real value of the scarfs—50c each.

All the regular Fall lines of Men's Neckwear are displayed, too-a superb show-French Four-in-hands, 2, 21 and 21 in. wide, are 50c and $1.

Folded Squares, 2½-in. wide, are $1 and $1.50. Patterns and colorings are varied and in good taste. Men's Furnishings, Broadway and 9th st. New Clothing

For Boys The manufacturers of WANAMAKER'S clothing for boys tell us that we should talk more about the excellence of the clothing they make for us. They say other stores never demand that fabrics shall be all-wool, or that they should be silksewed on both sides. With all this unusual excellence. WANAMAREE'S clothing is exceptionally low-priced. The suits that we sell at $5 cannot be duplicated anywhere at less than $1 to $1.50 more. For instance, these Norfolk Jacket Suits, with bloomers or straight knee-trousers, made of select patterns of mixed and plain blue cheviots, in sizes for $ to 16 years, at $5 a suit. Wanamaker Special Double-breasted Jacket Suits, with knee-trousers, of plain blue or mixed cheviots, having double thickness of cloth at seat and knees, in sizes for $ to 16 years, at $5.
